Excel Enters Institutional Market

Excel Funds Management Inc. will offer its emerging markets investment strategies to institutional investors. Established in 1998, its entry into the institutional space is driven by increasing institutional interest in emerging markets, which have become the fastest growing category of global investing. "The seismic shift in the global economy, engendered by the dramatic rise of emerging markets, has opened new windows of opportunity for institutional investors seeking to capitalize on new growth opportunities," says Bhim D. Asdhir, its president & CEO. "We anticipate that the relative importance of emerging markets will accelerate over the next two decades given the exponential increase in their market capitalization, which is set to surpass that of developed markets."
